Great teachers make great teachers

There's a reason that Augustana education graduates are in high demand. And that 100% of them found work in their chosen profession.

Our students form close ties with their peers and professors — both personally and professionally — that remain strong long after graduation, creating an ongoing network for professional development.

A good example is the Beginning Teachers Workshop, a 23-year tradition at Augustana. Education. → Video and story

King celebration Jan. 17 features prison outreach

Our annual Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., event on Jan. 17 will highlight projects that give incarcerated people the chance to change their lives through education.

Alumni, parents and friends of the college are invited to events Jan. 17 and 19.

Jan. 17: Hear a panel discussion by the Bard Prison Initiative and the Augustana Prison Education Program at 6:30 p.m. via Zoom.

Jan. 19: Take a virtual tour of the National Civil Rights Museum. The tour will be offered at 6:30 p.m. via Zoom.

A legacy of service far beyond his time in uniform

Members of the U.S. Army Sustainment Command participated alongside hundreds of volunteers in the Wreaths Across America event at Rock Island National Cemetery Dec. 18.

Most volunteers came to honor the memories of those they never met. But Marilynn Palmquist Stone, 97, had a special headstone to mark with her wreath: the place where her husband, John Robert Stone, Class of 1949, is laid to rest. → Read about him
